I have a small plaque that reads, "When did I grow up to be my Mom?". I have always admired her. She is and always has been a tireless volunteer. I watched her spend countless hours volunteering during my dad's Air Force career. She believed she could help make a difference by being involved.

That always stayed with me and hence my path to volunteering had been laid. The groups I belonged to have varied, but all had an underlying mission of helping others.

Today, I am a member of Pilot International. Today, I spend my time on projects within the community I live and work in. Today, I get the chance to watch the glimmer in a child's eye as they splash paint on a Brainminder's mask and it gets tucked into their wheelchair for a parade. Today, I get to offer a tissue to a parent who has returned for a memorial service at their child's school.

Gandhi once said, "Be the change you want to see in the world." I want to be a part of the change that brings prospective members to Pilot; to be a part of the change that helps to keep our current members engaged and growing as leaders in Pilot; to be a part of the change in how we position ourselves on the internet and other social media sites.

I believe that together we can be the change to make Pilot International the organization of choice.
