We must be ever mindful that our duty as Pilots goes out beyond the limits of a club and embraces a far wider horizon. As Pilot's, we readily recognize the responsibility that is ours in meeting the needs in our communities throughout the world. The bond of universal love and brotherhood has become a matter of prime importance to every Pilot. We must continue to seek ways to become more visible throughout the world as we participate in programs to "Protect Your Brain for Life." We must combine our basic principles and goals to seek the better things of life, with an overwhelming determination to contribute our best effort in which we may reach our goals of achievement for improving the quality of life throughout the world. How important it should be to each of us to share the excitement we enjoy as Pilots, in order that our ideals for the betterment of humanity will be recognized along the roads to success.

Pilot International must continue reevaluating our club programs, projects and goals to see if they are meeting the challenges of a changing world. We need to broaden the scope of our service with projects that are innovative, answering the needs in diverse communities.

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has"-----Margaret Mead
