A NEW Way

Does your company or business make a yearly pledge to United Way? Did you know you can designate Pilot International Foundation to receive your donation? If your employer offers a payroll deduction plan for United Way, just specify Pilot International Foundation to benefit the Foundation mission—BrainMinders™, “Protecting Your Brain For Life,” scholarships and grants.

United Way

A matching donation from your employer makes it twice as nice! Support your United Way and Pilot International Foundation with one pledge that will make a difference. Thank you for considering this convenient way to grow our Foundation.

IN Memoriam

For all Pilots reported to PI Headquarters as deceased between August 1 and October 26, 2007.

Frank and Angie at his retirement dinner at the international convention in Atlanta, July 2006.

Memories of Frank Soldovere

Executive Director
Pilot International
1998-2004

SHARON SLUSHER—2001-2002

When I think of Frank, I think of what a kind, generous, friendly man he was.

We were working together on September 11, 2001 and he helped all of us support each other during that time of tragedy.

Enjoyed all the Italian food we shared, Frank could always find an Italian restaurant!

ALAYNA SCHAFFER—2003-2004

Despite all of his many years of non-profit experience and leadership, I think it took courage for a man to step into an organization of primarily women, especially so the leadership. I don't care what people may say... women do think differently and act differently, especially around others of our species. I have no doubt that there have been times that Frank was dumbfounded by us.

One of my fondest memories will be at the convention when the EC sang and danced to the tune of YMCA with words and choreography by none other than Frank. He was indeed a man of many talents.

MARYANN FRAZER—2004-2005

The 2004-05 Executive Committee made the tough decision to sell both buildings and relocate PI headquarters—Frank played a major role in making the right decision for the organization. On a lighter note, Frank was always the envy of the restaurant staff when the EC/BOT went out for dinner—there he was, one man among so many women!

Frank will be remembered by many Pilots for his good humor and goodwill toward worthy causes. We all send our condolences to his wife Angie and their family on their loss.

On November 5, 2007, the Pilot International staff attended the memorial service and funeral for Frank Soldovere. Frank's family spoke about how the cancer he battled for the last several years defined his spirit and determination as a man who loved his family and children.

DIANA KINGREE—1998-1999

My "Brooklyn Buddy," we hit it off right away since we were both born in Brooklyn. It was my pleasure and honor to work with Frank, as the "First President" during his employment with Pilot International.

Frank had visions and expertise gathered at his previous non-profits to assist me and the BOD to find consensus for the changes that would be needed for the future. Hard as the changes may have looked, he never had a negative comment throughout the process and I thanked him many times for joining our organization.

Arkansas-Oklahoma

Members of the Pilot Club of Claremore brought bagged candy to their October business meeting to be presented to the Veteran's Home. The veterans enjoyed passing out candy to children on Halloween for trick-or-treat.

COED

The Pilot Club of Singapore held a seminar called Brain Gym®. The program, led by a learning consultant and educational kinesiologist, is a series of exercises designed to reduce stress and bring back a natural joy of learning.

Florida

The Pilot Club of Titusville made a $400 donation to Sharon Pogar, Activity Coordinator at Joe's Club in Titusville. Joe's Club provides special care for North Brevard's seniors—it is a licensed daycare facility offering supervision and programs for older adults facing physical or cognitive challenges. Sharon Pogar and staff work hard to bring fun into Joe's Club by having theme parties, ice cream socials and daily games and entertainment. Some upcoming events planned are Space Shuttle Day, Italian Day and a visit from Ronald McDonald.

In October 2006, after the Pilot Club of Ocala invited Mary Harper, the founder of Operation Shoebox as the program speaker, 35-year member Curtiss Johnson Baillie was inspired to bring the project to her church. There she and a group of her friends worked together to make Christmas stockings and goodie bags for soldiers serving overseas. Over the next year Curtiss personally made over 2,000 stockings and goodie bags, and her group made hundreds more. The Pilot Club of Ocala provided financial assistance to Operation Shoebox to help with the postage involved with mailing the bags and also provided items to include in the packages.

The Pilot Club of Tallahassee volunteered to assist The Alzheimer's Project, Inc. with their annual fundraiser, the Poker Run. Pilots were stationed at each Poker Run stop to provide a playing card to some 60 motorcycles riders who selected a card, hoping to get the best one for their poker hand. After the ride was completed, participants enjoyed a barbecue lunch.

Georgia

The Pilot Club of Atlanta sponsored the 23rd annual exhibition and luncheon of Georgia Artists with Disabilities. Members set up the exhibition as well as the luncheon itself. They spent Three days "sitting" with the art; and quite a few bought some of the beautiful works of art.

Linda Miller, Surelle Pinkston, Kathy Jones and Dyann Moore of the Pilot Club of Macon gave a BrainMinders presentation at the Brookdale School with 99 students and 15 faculty members in attendance. Phyllis Dorn and Pam Pinkston joined Surelle and Dyann at St. Peter Claver Catholic School for another BrainMinders presentation to teachers, paraprofessionals and students.

Midwest

The Pilot Club of Iowa City held its 32nd Annual Breakfast and Bazaar on October 6 at the Iowa City First Methodist Church.

Mississippi

The Pilot Club of Holly Springs held a political rally for all their state and local candidates to attend if they wished. They hold this event every four years—it serves as a club fundraiser, as well as a service project for the community, allowing the public to hear from their candidates before an election. This year the club raised over $1,800 for Project Lifesaver and St. Jude Children's Research Hospital by accepting donations, holding a cake auction and selling food and beverages at a concession stand,

South Carolina

The Pilot Club of Seneca again provided refreshments at their community's Alzheimer's Walk. They also set up and decorated Pilot Club of Seneca information table at the event.

Texas

The Pilot Club of Tyler and the Tyler Police Department joined with Tyler Civic Theatre Center to present a special benefit performance of the play, Murder Me, Murder Me Not. Proceeds from the fundraiser allowed the club to purchase 612 children's certified bike helmets to be given away at bike rodeos and other safety events scheduled by the Tyler Police Department throughout the coming year.

The Pilot Club of North Dallas made a BrainMinders presentation at Scottish Rite Hospital in Dallas. The BrainMinder Buddies puppets brought smiles and laughter to children who were in various stages of illnesses. A reporter from the Dallas Morning News accompanied the group and wrote a story that was published with pictures in the newspaper.

The Pilot Club of Quitman provided refreshments for a reception for the Quitman Community Theatre on opening night of their production of Barefoot in the Park.

Virginia

The Pilot Club of Harrisonburg (Virginia) hosted its annual end-of-summer picnic for Friendship Industries. This year they presented a new menu—everyone enjoyed grilled hotdogs and baked beans.

CLUBNEWS

Club members went to camp in August.

Members of the Pilot Club of Pittsburgh (Pennsylvania) went to Camp Variety for Kids, an annual, one-week summer day camp program at no cost for children with disabilities and their siblings held at The Woodlands campgrounds in Bradford Woods. This year the club sponsored two children to the camp and members volunteered at the camp as well. Pilot Sherri Lynn Danko made a BrainMinders presentation to the campers. The club also held a cookout for residents of the Emmaus Community. Both Pilots and Emmaus residents enjoyed a sun-filled day of games and good food. The Pilot Club of Pittsburgh has been supporting and volunteering at the Emmaus Community for many years.

Project participants show bags of art supplies they assembled and donated to sick children.

The Southwestern District's service project at Fall Workshop was putting together art bags for the St. Joe's/Barrow's Neurological Children's Hospital in Phoenix. Clubs were asked to donate art supplies and homemade bags and these were presented along with two donated wagons to hospital representative Debbie Castaldo. A total of 216 bags and many extra boxes of art supplies were given to the hospital.

The Pilot Club of Titusville (Florida) made a $400 donation to Joe's Club in Titusville. Joe's Club is a licensed daycare facility offering supervision and programs for older adults facing physical or cognitive challenges. There the staff works hard to bring fun into their lives by holding theme parties, ice cream socials and daily games and entertainment.

The Evening Pilot Club of Baytown (Texas) donated $200.00 to the "All the Little Things Count" Day Habilitation Program. This group purchased a gas grill for cookouts, and the club also donated hamburgers, hot dogs, chips, dips, soda and desserts for a party. The club made an special "enhanced" BrainMinders presentation that the group enjoyed. Staff, group members and Pilots enjoyed visiting after lunch.

Pilot Maureen Wolff (foreground) sorts tee-shirts as other volunteers help participants registering for the walk.

Members of the Pilot Club of Milwaukee (Wisconsin) volunteered to help out at the Brain Injury Association of Wisconsin Walk for Thought. The walk took place at the Milwaukee County Zoo. The Alzheimer's Walk also took place that day and other Pilots volunteered there.

The Pilot Club of Valdese (North Carolina), through its Heart Challenge project, recently placed an Automated External Defibrillator (AED) in East Burke Middle School. AEDs are used to restore normal heart rhythm to individuals in cardiac arrest. Club members also coordinated AED and CPR training and a meal to participants at the school. To date, the club has placed seven defibrillators at a cost of about $1,800

Several of the club's fundraising events support the Heart Challenge Project, including an annual Taste of Christmas & Silent Auction, the Little Miss & Master Valdese pageant, and a bi-annual golf tournament.

Members of the Pilot Club of Mure Kagawa (Japan) welcomed guests PI 1st Vice President Pat Jarvis and her Co-Pilot, Gary, and Past PI President Cindy Weaver from Elberton, Georgia. They were joined by Past Japan District Governor Etsuko Arimura from Kagoshima, and longtime Pilot translator Kiku Kubo. The visitors were there to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the Elberton – Mure Kagawa Sister City Exchange program.

Marjorie Jones, a 50-year Tyler Pilot, arranged for the presentation by Paul Gleiser.

Members of the Pilot Club of Tyler (Texas) welcomed Paul Gleiser, CEO of Gleiser Communications, an ABC radio affiliate with several stations in the area, who presented his program on "9/11 + 6 Years" at the club's October program meeting. The presentation included a speech and a slide presentation with photos not only of the immediate aftermath, but also of rebuilding efforts.

North Dallas Pilots brought the "Play Smart, Play Safe" message to Scottish Rite.

The Pilot Club of North Dallas (Texas) recently brightened the days of young patients at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children by presenting the BrainMinder Buddies puppets, teaching them safety habits such as wearing seat belts and bike helmets to protect their brains. The club has also presented the BrainMinders program at daycare centers and schools, and plan to perform at Scottish Rite on a regular basis. They used the occasion to garner some publicity for their club with an article in the Dallas News, the local paper.

Members of the Pilot Clubs of Chattanooga and Athens, and Luncheon Athens Pilot Club (Tennessee) participate in the Alzheimer's Memory Walk each year and are Signature sponsors for the event. The walk, held at Coolidge Park in Chattanooga, raises awareness about Alzheimer's Disease.

The Pilot Club of Singapore held a luncheon for some of the ambulatory residents of Apex Lodge, a home for seniors that is a longtime project for the club. Pilot Doreen Phu hosted the meal at her home, which was specially catered to special diets. They also enjoyed a Chinese show in Doreen's home theater.

Pilots help Apex Lodge residents down the steps to see a show after lunch.

The Pilot Club of Muncie (Indiana) held its 40th Annual Safety Program to honor local public safety servants, including police and correctional officers, firemen and paramedics. The club accepted nominations from police, fire and emergency medical officials and chooses its "Officers of the Year." Among those recognized this year were a fireman burned while making sure a building was unoccupied, a police investigator who made one of the biggest drug busts in Muncie history, and the newly named head of the regional emergency response mass casualty team.

The Pilot Club of Livingston (Texas) held an annual turkey dinner; its major fundraiser for the year. This year they served over 1,200 people.

Pilot Emma Dahl shows four of the more than 100 loaves of bread she made for the dinner—she also directed the event.

The Pilot Club of Marion (North Carolina) held a Garage/Yard Sale fundraiser. They also allowed Victoria and Fred Shumate to set up a Lemonade Stand that also sold baked goods and raffle tickets at the sale to raise money for multiple sclerosis (MS) research—Fred was diagnosed with MS in 1977. After the sale, the club donated the unsold clothes and other items to a local charitable agency.

Leadership Development

■ Bobbie Hudson

Is your club and district recycling? I do not mean plastic and newspapers, I mean officers. Are the same Pilots always the ones to attend fall councils, district conventions and PI International Convention? Has the same Pilot been club president so many times, she knows the installation ceremony by heart? Is one seasoned Pilot making all the decisions for the club rather than all members taking part? Are there cliques? If the answer to any of the previous questions, is yes, then your club or district is headed for trouble—apathy, lack of enthusiasm and participation have probably already started to raise their ugly heads.

Clubs should encourage new members to attend fall councils to see the big picture of Pilot International and to enjoy the friendship and service that is unique to our organization. Fall councils should be fun with learning experiences thrown in so Pilots, especially those who travel a long way, feel they are worthwhile. But there should always be time for Pilots to just enjoy each other. On a personal note, some of my best Pilot friends were those I met at fall councils where we discovered the joy of retail therapy! They are a perfect time to look around and start thinking about who has never run for a district office but attends and participates in fall councils, takes appointments and is always there for district conventions. Make yourself a list in your program book so that when your club is trying to think of Pilots to nominate for district office, there are names right in front of you.

Clubs need to get their new members involved immediately and listen to their ideas and try some of the projects they suggest. Not everything will work but does everything always work? If your club is dominated by cliques, one Pilot who sets the course for the club and people who just want to put community service on their resumes but do not want to do any, then your club has a problem and I am sure I do not have to tell you that. You may find some good advice on handling such matters in Robert's Rules of Order—if not, consult your Executive Committee Representative (ECR) for help in dealing with the situation.

Start now, while fall council enthusiasm and fun is still in the air, working on your members to attend district convention to further see the full picture of what Pilot International is truly all about and what other clubs do to contribute to our organization on a daily, weekly and monthly basis. If your club or district is having problems, do not just ignore them or hope they will go away. Be proactive and seek help, it is out there on an international and district level and there are outstanding previous officers on all levels who would be more than willing to lend a hand to help or just listen and advise.

Do not just recycle; go out there and build a whole new product—your club or district! The Pilot environment needs everything we can do to help it grow and prosper!

Club Operations

■ Judy Smith

Have you caught the Pilot spirit? As President Judy says in her message on page 3, it's vital for all of us to focus our attention on membership. Have you been out there recruiting new members? We can all contribute to growing this organization. As Martha would say, "it's a good thing" to be a Pilot. It's not our only concern, but attracting new members should be a top priority, an ongoing long-term project—without Pilots there is no Pilot International!

Ok, so you've taken President Judy's advice about word-of-mouth, you've talked to people—your friends and co-workers and strangers you met at your dentist's office—and you inspired them to join your club, they have signed on the dotted line and been welcomed into the group—congratulations! But wait, your work has just begun! New members must feel welcome, needed, cared for and never isolated. It is the duty of all members, from the board and club operations committee, to rank and file members and especially their sponsors to make sure these new people become longtime Pilots, not dropouts.

Several years ago my club, the Pilot Club of Omaha, took in four new members after a Share Pilot event. I am proud to say all have become very active, involved members and one is serving as a director this year. Our club's board wanted to try something new and different in the way we treated new members and brainstormed about how to go about it. We decided to call what we came up with the "Pilot Pal Program." The program's goal is for new members to have someone besides their sponsor to be friends with. The name "pal" was chosen because it sounded and felt less formal than "mentor." Members who volunteered to be part of this program put their names in a bowl and the new members drew. Each "pal" approached the job a little differently, but new members had at least two people they knew and could call by name from their very first meeting.

Phone calls to say, "do you have any questions?" or "do you need a ride to the fundraiser?" or "would you like to have a cup of coffee sometime?" can make all the difference in how someone feels about Pilot, and these are things that all Pilots can do. Remember our motto, "Friendship and Service" and how important it is that friendship comes first.

I would love to include your clubs' ideas on how to recruit and keep members, so please send them to me and I will share them in the next issue. Let's all work hard to make the new membership campaign, "Catch The Pilot Spirit!" a great success! Our goal is three members per club in the coming year, so spread your wings and get busy. We can do this!

Fundraising

■ Agatha Muse-Salters

I am sure you have heard the old adage before: “If you fail to plan, you plan to fail.” Too many volunteer organizations jump from one fundraiser to the next, without a clearly developed fundraising program. Before you undertake any fundraising efforts, large or small, start with a well-thought-out fundraising plan. As you plan for the balance of the 2008 program year or start on plans for next year, invest time and effort in planning fundraisers—consider the following steps and tips.

1. Set a Fundraising Goal

The budgetary needs of the organization generally guide fundraising goals. Each individual project or event should have its own goal.

2. Establish a Proper Expense to Profit Ratio

The expenses related to the fundraising program should be kept below a certain percentage of your total (gross) receipts—for most fundraising events, aim for expenses of 30% or less. Look for ways to minimize your costs wherever you can.

3. Set a Budget

A budget is essential for every project in order to monitor the costs of the fundraiser and predict the profit. Calculating the costs of a plan before you get started will help determine whether it's a viable project. Create a list of all costs involved and estimate potential sales and donations.

4. Donations and Corporate Sponsors

Local businesses and individual sponsors are often willing to help underwrite costs in exchange for recognition and/or advertising. Donations of supplies needed for the fundraiser can also be a big help to the bottom line. For example, if you are having a dinner, solicit restaurants to donate all or a portion of the food. Ask area businesses or members to donate prizes for raffles and auctions rather than purchasing them.

5. Timelines

Start with the date of the fundraiser and work backward. Write down all of the major and minor details that need to be accomplished and set deadlines for each one. Organize club committees for the major tasks, and delegate responsibilities to individual Pilots, making the best use of their skills and talents.

6. Evaluate

Provide in the fundraising plan a detailed explanation of how you plan to monitor and evaluate the project. I recommend both periodic and year-end evaluations. Did you achieve your objectives? What worked? What didn't? What would you change next year?

Please don't forget to send details of your club's fundraisers so I can share them with everyone. I'll list them in the Log and develop a resource guide. Please e-mail me at musesalters@hotmail.com and include the following information for each project:

- Club name and district
- Contact information – name, e-mail, phone numbers, etc.
- Name and description of fundraiser – include who, what, when, where and how.
- Goals and target groups to benefit from the fundraiser.
- Budget – itemize costs.
- Total expense – itemize, if possible.
- Net profit.

Projects

■ Vicky Broussard

We all have ongoing projects that run from year to year and I'm sure by now you have done one or more of them. It may be time to breathe some new life into those tried-and-true perennials. Our PI President, Judy Breaud, has made her theme “Catch the Pilot Spirit!” Have you thought of using that theme when you are planning your projects?

What if you had every member in the club make a Christmas card for you to take to a nursing home in your community? The key word in that sentence is make! How about going to a retirement center and reading a story to those who want to listen or those who cannot read? What if you got a group together and picked up trash on one city block all wearing Pilot shirts? Have you thought about joining forces with other Pilot Clubs in your area and preparing a meal for the homeless or shelters in your community? And let us not forget our BrainMinders programs for the young and old.

Have you figured it out yet, how projects can even lead to opportunities for membership growth and publicity? If you get out in your communities with hands-on projects and not just monetary contributions, what better way to get people to “Catch the Pilot Spirit”? Maybe people you encounter in these projects—family members of the people you have helped, attendees at a BrainMinders presentation, or people just passing on the street during your clean-up campaign—might want to know why you did these kind deeds and what your organization is all about. You might even have the chance to bring in new members, which we all know we need. Give it a try and see what the outcome brings. You never know what you mean in someone else's life.

Please e-mail me with your project ideas or anything I can help you with.

E-mail Vicky at BrainMinderBuddy@sbcglobal.net.

Anchor

■ Nancy Bierema

I can't believe the holiday season is already here. The school year is fast approaching the half-way mark. Anchors are busy with projects, which at this time of year usually includes providing goods and services for the needy. Whether ringing the bell for the Salvation Army or adopting a family for Thanksgiving and Christmas, Anchors do make a difference in their communities. It is also a good time for Pilots to assist them by asking what they can do to help. Remember that sponsoring an Anchor Club is a year-long commitment, and try to be as involved as you can.

Pilots, did you know that districts can apply for a $500 Seed Grant to either help send an Anchor to Freedoms Foundation in Valley Forge, April 17-20, or for an Anchor Activities Seed Grant? The Anchor Activities Grant might be used to complete an Anchor/Pilot District Service project. For example, the Florida District received a grant to purchase supplies to make tray favors for the Meals on Wheels Program, a project completed at the Anchor District Convention. I am sure all of you have worthwhile projects that you could use some financial help with—this is your chance. If you don't have a project, do you have a deserving Anchor who would greatly benefit from attending the Freedoms Foundation? You could develop it as a type of scholarship, with your District funding the rest of the expense. In the world today we often forget the principles of responsible citizenship. What a joy it would be for a young adult to experience it firsthand at Freedoms Foundation. These are just a few ideas to get you thinking. All necessary information on the Seed Grant application process is available on the Pilot International website www.pilotinternational.org—the deadline is January 15, 2008.

January 15 is also the deadline for Anchor Advisor of the Year nominations. Pilots, if you sponsor an Anchor Club, you know what a valuable asset the advisors are. If not for them we wouldn't have clubs in most schools because they require faculty personal to be advisors. Also, in most schools the Advisor gets no monetary compensation. They do it because they love the youth and understand the importance of community service. Anchors and Pilots can show their appreciation of these wonderful people by nominating them for Anchor Advisor of the Year.

Most Anchor District Conventions are currently in the planning stages. Pilots, contact your District Anchor Coordinator and offer your services to help out in any way you can. Pilots whose clubs don't sponsor Anchor Clubs have an opportunity to be involved with Anchors at the District level. If you have never been to an Anchor District Convention I encourage you to go. You will have the time of your life, and come away with a greater appreciation of our Anchors' energy and commitment.

IN THE NEWS

Anne Hare, Dean of Library and Instructional Services at Lander University and member of the Pilot Club of Greenwood (South Carolina), received the Medallion of Honor from the school for her years of distinguished service. Anne joined Lander as director of the school's library in 1968, and during her nearly 40 years at the school, she has seen and spearheaded many positive changes for the students and faculty.

Rachel Terry, member of the Pilot Club of Titusville (Florida) was recently named co-recipient of the Titusville Community Service Award at Flag Day ceremonies held at Brevard Community College. Rachel, an administrative assistant to the medical staff and auxiliary liaison at Parrish Medical Center (PMC), has been involved with the Jess Parrish Medical Foundation (JPMF) since its formation, and has served on its Board of Directors since 1999, as well as co-chairing the new Annual Gifts Committee. Through her efforts, JPMF and PMC initiated the Gift of Light in 1989, a fundraiser for healthcare programs that continues as one of North Brevard's favorite community holiday events.

Tammy Murphy, member of the Pilot Club of Tyler (Texas), is an artist and designer. She recently made a Pilot vest for her friend, Melanie Roberts that generated a lot of attention when Melanie wore it to a meeting.

Maxine Harris, member of the Pilot Club of Springfield (Ohio), received "The Servant of Youth" award for at least five years of outstanding service to Lutheran youth through the church and one or more of the civic youth-serving agencies, upon nomination by Trinity Lutheran Church and the Tecumseh Council, BSA.

Ene Purre, member of the Pilot Club of Charleston (West Virginia) recently set a new record by dead-lifting 203 pounds in the 70-year-old category in competition sanctioned by the U.S. Powerlifting Federation. Here she is pictured (center) with Susan Hill (left) and Roberta Stuck at the club's Founders Day celebration where the three were honored for reaching the 25-year mark as Pilots.

Chellie Bea, member of the Pilot Club of Green County (Oklahoma), was recently honored as the Bartlesville Chamber of Commerce Ambassador of the Year. She has been an Ambassador for over seventeen years, is a graduate of Leadership Bartlesville and has served on various committees and in leadership positions.

Elsa Bain, charter member of the Pilot Club of Muscatine (Iowa), celebrated her 103rd birthday with family and friends in August. The Muscatine Journal, the local newspaper, featured her in an article that mentioned the Pilot Club.

Anchor/Pilot International Freedoms Foundation Spirit of America Youth Conference • April 3-6, 2008

An inclusive program for high school students, the Spirit of America Youth Conference offers student participants the opportunity to spend a weekend discussing issues facing the world. Attendees will have an opportunity to observe government at work and explore their individual roles as citizens today and in the future.

It's an exciting four-day program, held on the historic campus of Freedoms Foundation, at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Anchors, make your plans to attend now! Headquarters has budgeted $500 for each district to send an Anchor representative to Freedom's Foundation. All Districts are encouraged to apply. For more information, contact your District Anchor Coordinator, or e-mail the PI Anchor Liaison/Program Coordinator Laura Adams at laura@pilothq.org.
